Bathtime with Bubbles and Cuddles

DoggieRescue is looking for volunteers to help bath some of the doggies at their Ingleside kennels.

Founder Monika Biernacki says "since we have had all that rain, many of our fluffy small dogs are in desperate need of a bath. Anyone who loves to bath a dog can help the make these dogs feel special. Bathing is very therapeutic -- it relaxes them and it is a great way for a volunteer to give one on one special attention. We supply all the equipment and facilities. All we ask if for your time."

DoggieRescue has hydrobath facilities and basic grooming equipment ready for use and is open 6 days. Training is provided. For further information on how you can help call 9486 3133 or e-mail ritaferinga@gmail.com

DoggieRescue is a registered volunteer organisation with a strict 'no-kill' policy. It has saved over 8,000 dogs in the past eight years and has more than 100 homeless dogs in its care.

If you cannot volunteer time, Doggie Rescue is always in need of 30-35cm dog collars, durable trampoline beds, tick prevention products and toys.
