

2 hours/week feeds lots of homeless puppies

Wednesday, 14 May 2008

Media release
For immediate release

Doggie Rescue is in desperate need of people with a couple of hours free each week to help feed its homeless puppies at its Ingleside shelter DoggieWood.

Doggie Rescue is strict No Kill charity saving dogs from death row from council pounds. “All the feeding is done by volunteers here” says Monika Biernacki, Managing Director. “It is such a rewarding experience helping these half starved little doggies slowly gaining weight and coming out of their shell.

The doggies all line up with their waggy tails waiting for their plate to be served.”

Doggie Rescue has a kitchen where a lot of the food is prepared. “Some of our volunteers prefer to just be involved in the food preparation, whilst others prefer to serve the meals.” “Working here is a bit like canteen duty” says Monika.

“Doggie Rescue has virtually all small dogs at DoggieWood. The doggies are so grateful for their yummy hot meals. Many of the volunteers bring extra ingredients to make their meals even more tasty.”

“Volunteers are provided with training and instruction and feeding is done on a rostered basis. We have a buddy system and leading “chef” each day. After the feeding and washing up is finished volunteers spend leisure time cuddling their favourite doggies or having a bit of a “social.”

“After lunch the dogs are just so quiet and happy - just ready for a nap. It is such a pleasure to behold” says Monika.

“If you cannot volunteer time, perhaps consider donating some Basmati rice which we mix with the chicken.” Right now we are very short of supplies. Call Lize on 99727194 or Geraldine on 0410 555 942 if you can help.

DoggieRescue relies on the support of generous dog lovers to keep its doors open and has well over 100 dogs looking for homes. Visit www.DoggieRescue.com or call 9486 3133 to help save a life. DoggieRescue.com is a No-Kill charity committed to saving abandoned, unloved, unwanted dogs from the council pounds.

-ENDS-

For more information please contact
Doggie Rescue founder - Monika Biernacki - 0429 044 484