

Puppy milled pups are next year's death row dogs

Media release
For immediate release

Monday, 15 September 2008

The pet shop strategy of providing a cooling off period is a positive step, but does NOT address the root of the problem – too many puppies are being bred and innocent lives are subsequently lost.

Clover Moore's Bill is designed to stop impulse purchases of cute little puppies. "Her bill would result in markets and pet shops no longer being permitted to sell companion animals which would shrink the demand for puppy milling – at least in Australia" says Monika Biernacki, founder of No Kill charity DoggieRescue.com.

It is the only hope that rescue groups such as DoggieRescue has, that there will ever be a curtailment in the destruction of so many dogs who die through no fault of their own. "We call ourselves civilised but we treat out companion animals like disposable objects – it is barbaric!" says Monika.

Be a voice for the animals and say NO to puppy milled puppies. Support Clover's Bill and show our companion animals we care.

DoggieRescue works at the coal face each day saving dogs from death row from council pounds. Each year DoggieRescue saves about 1,000 but some 50,000 still die.

DoggieRescue wants to see, less dogs die each year at the pounds and shelters. Help the vision become a reality.

This Bill is also supported by the RSPCA, Animal Liberation, Young Lawyers Animal Rights Committee, Say No to Animals in Pet Shops, World League for the Protection of Animals, the Cat Protection Society, the Humane Society International, Dogs NSW and many others. Let's turn the tide and vote with our conscience!

Call Doggie Rescue on (02) 9486 3133 or visit www.DoggieRescue.com

-ENDS-

For more information please contact
Doggie Rescue founder - Monika Biernacki - 0429 044 484